E. W. Wilson and the Flick Amendment. A good deal is being said about pro-scription in West Virginia; and for want of good argument the Democratic orators are declaring that a party which kept Confederates out of their votes can't be trusted to give a lawful and prudent administration of affairs—as the Democratic party has not done.

It is never said that the Republicans of West Virginia did "let up" on the erring brother and restore to his hand the ballot, which he was not slow to use against that asuc of $50. party, as he had a right to do. But it party, as he had a right to do. But it seems an idle waste of lung power to ded in the face of Dr. Melville Taylor, and nounce the Republican party as the party be died of diptheria himself in a few days. of prescription, when the Democratic party has taken pains to honor Democrats who were in the same boat. Not to go any further, there is the Hon. E. Willis Wilson, Democratic nominee for Gov. ernor. Here is what appears in the columns of the Democratic Register: To the Editor of the Register.
CIRCLEVILLE, W. VA., September 20.

DEAR SIR: Please answer me the following questions:
1. Did the Flick Amendment to the Con-

The stitution of this State become a law?

Ameera—What is known as the Flick Amendment to the Constitution was adopted by two successive Legislatures, by Vorl the affirmative votes of some Democratic members and some Republicans. It was submitted to a vote of the people of the Ptof.
State in May, 1872, and was ratified as a part of the Constitution by a large mapority of those who voted on the question.

2. If so, did it give Confederate soldiers
a vote?

Ansuce—The exact language of this

It fell tails. The tramp's thirst was neck and neck with his hunger. "I mush' give the breakfast a chance. So here goes were made. It doesn't matter that the Register is very guarded in its answer, prefering to state cold facts and allow the inquirer to draw his own inference. The answer is from the official record, and that tells they are the state of t

Speaker Carlisle and the Tariff, We regret that we have not a short hand report of Speaker Carlisle's speech in Grafton. But the fact is that the Democrats of the Second Distret are so alarmed that they brought in a distinguished free trader and the Speaker of the House to help them save their bacon if possible. The meeting does not seem to have been a howling success. But Mr. Carlisle spoke and this is part of his, speech as reported

If placed in power the Democrats would If placed in power the Democrats would lower taxation, without injury to industrial interests. The party was not, he said, in any true sense free traders or enemies of the workingmen. They believed that high tariff increased the cost of living and induced over-production. New markets were needed and lower priced raw material was necessary to compete successfully with foreign producers.

He also eulogized highly Mr. Wilson, representative from the Second district, and said he had made more of a reputation for himself than any young man in Congress.

Congress.
Of course the Democratic party is a party of free trade. For this time "only" and "exclusively" we may admit that, and go on with the procession. If Mr. Car-lisle will permit the suggestion we have only to turn to the record to know what the Democratic party would do with the tariff if it could. It gave us the free trade tariff bill of 1846 and made it worse in 1857-acts which bankrupted the busines of the country and the Government itself. Then we have the attempted legislation known as the Wood tariff bill and the Pa. Cancer I

Morrison tariff bill, of which fortunatel the Democratic party was unable to make

Mr. Carlisle may think that the Morriso bill would not have injured any industria interest, but every Republican in the House except four, and the contingent of Randall Democrats, thought it would, and they defeated it. There is not an industrial interest in the country that would not have suffered from that blow. West Virginia would have suffered in every industry. Her wool would have been cut again, her to coal, salt and lumber would have been put on the free list.

Congressman Wilson, of the Second district, thought the Morrison bill wouldn't hurt, and he supported it. Therefore Mr. Carlisle comes into Mr. Wilson's district and tells what a nice young man he is. For the same reason Mr. Morrison will help Mr. Gibson in the Fourth district. These gentlemen don't keep step with the times. West Virginia is ahead of them.

In the light of this record it might be thought that the Democratic managers would muzzle their speakers and wrestle with their press, so that their party may be saved the pain of being intensely absurd on this question of proscription. But there are remote places where the newspaper does not penetrate, and those places are the reliance of the Democratic managers.

The following spring they are fully developed and ready to start on their journey of transformation. In answer to the question, "Is it common for sheep to throw the grub from the nose at this senson of the year?" Answer: The grub may be expelled from the nostrils at this time by very violent sneezing, but as it is very small it csapes notice.
